Stassen, Furman Listed As Long Shots

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota who three times was unsuccessful in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination, seeks to recoup his political fortunes today by becoming the GOP choice for governor in Pennsylvania's primary election.

Stassen, long a maverick in Republican circles which once regarded him as the "boy wonder," is bucking the GOP organization choice of businessman Arthur T. McGonigle, 51-year-old pretzel manufacturer. Two other independents also are in the field.

The odds seem against a Stassen victory. But the native Minnesotan turned Pennsylvanian, also 51, always has regarded himself as a long shot. He's genuinely optimistic, but acknowledges that victory can come only with a large voter turnout.

Despite a strenuous campaign, political observers estimate that less than 40 per cent of the 5,134,133 registered voters—2,718,719 Republicans and 2,415,414 Democrats—will go to the polls. On the GOP side a turnout of a million probably won't be enough to put Stassen across.

Long Campaign
Stassen has been on the campaign trail since resigning four months ago as President Eisenhower's special adviser on disarmament.

His election as governor could mean Pennsylvania's huge block of GOP convention votes would go against Vice President Richard Nixon, should Nixon seek the Republican nomination as president in 1960. Stassen, virtually alone, opposed Nixon's renomination in 1956.

Eisenhower, who has not committed himself, will vote near his Gettysburg farm home. McGonigle, until he was tapped, served as the fund raiser for the state GOP. He has never been a candidate for public office. He is a lawyer turned businessman, and in his primary speechmaking declared the state needs a businessman at its helm.

Also contending for the GOP gubernatorial spot are William S. Livengood Jr., four-term state secretary of Internal Affairs before he was dumped by the Republican organization in 1954; and Harold J. Vaughan, a sales executive with little backing.

Livengood claims independent support in the rural counties, and he's optimistic. To political observers, however, the big question is: From whom will Livengood pull votes—McGonigle or Stassen? Though nationally the politicians are watching the GOP primary fight, there is a contest—though of smaller proportions and with less likelihood of upset—on the Democratic side.

Organization
Contending for the gubernatorial nomination are organization-backed David L. Lawrence, now in his fourth term as mayor of Pittsburgh; Roy L. Furman, the present lieutenant governor; and a political unknown, Edward P. Lavelle of Scranton.

Lawrence, at 68, is the state's Democratic national committee man and regarded as "Mr. Democrat" of Pennsylvania. He has based his entire campaign in support of the administration of present Gov. George M. Leader.

The 40-year-old Leader is on the Lawrence ticket as the party choice for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Republican Edward Martin.

Court Nudges State Near Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has nudged Virginia a big step nearer a showdown on its policy calling for closing of public schools rather than desegregating them.

Without comment, the court rejected yesterday a last-ditch effort by Virginia to stave off an order for admission of seven Negroes to white schools in Arlington County, just across the Potomac River from the national capital.

In Miami Beach, Fla., where he is attending the annual governors conference, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia said "I see no change in the situation in Virginia. We have state laws which we believe to be intact and they will be applied in an honest effort to save public education from the chaos which these decisions would impose upon it."

Way Open
By refusing to hear the case, the high court left the way open for enforcement of the order issued by U. S. District Judge Albert B. Bryan of Alexandria.

Judge Bryan's order called for admission of the seven Negroes at the beginning of the school term last fall, but he held up its effectiveness pending appeals. The U. S. Court of Appeals in Richmond last Feb. 12 upheld Bryan.

The Supreme Court's action apparently left Virginia with only one more legal move available—to ask the high court to reconsider its action. The time limit for such a plea is 25 days.

In other actions, the high court:

1. Outlawed in a 6-3 decision a dual rate system of transportation charges used by scores of steamship operators' groups. The system provides cheaper rates to shippers who sign an exclusive patronage contract.

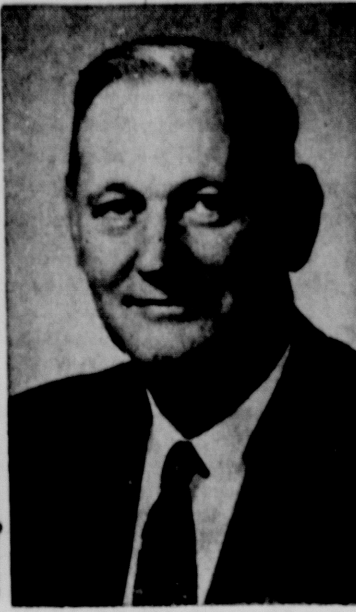

2. In a case turning on the issue of double jeopardy, upheld 5-3 the conviction of William Hoag on an armed robbery charge in connection with a 1950 holdup of a Fairview, N.J. tavern. Hoag was accused of robbing three people at the tavern, tried and acquitted. He was put on trial again, accused of robbing a fourth person, was convicted and sentenced to 5 to 7 years.

3. Set aside the conviction of Frank Andrew Payne, 19, an Arkansas Negro convicted of robbery-murder of his white employer. The majority in a 7-2 decision said a confession by Payne may have been coerced by a threat of mob violence. Justices Clark and Burton dissented.

4. Threw out the contempt of Congress conviction of Harry Sacher, New York attorney in Communist causes. The contempt charge was based on Sacher's refusal to answer questions put to him in 1955 by two members of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The high court held that questions about Communist affiliations were not clearly pertinent to the subject matter the two senators were authorized to investigate. It was an unsigned opinion to which Justices Clark and Whitaker dissented.

Graden Praetorius

Clifford F. Heller

Republican Race For State Committeemen Major Issue

REPUBLICANS WILL choose one of two men to serve as their State Committeeman in today's election.

It's a contest between Graden Praetorius, Saylorburg and Clifford F. Heller, Stroudsburg.

Praetorius is owner and operator of the Lake House in Saylorburg, Hamilton Township.

Heller is treasurer of Stroudsburg Septic Tank Co. in this Borough.

State Level
Their contest is the only one in the selection of party committeemen on the State level.

Forrest Smith, Democratic committeeman incumbent, is not opposed.

Most of the interest in today's balloting centers on selection of party chairmen.

Republicans are involved in a photo-finish race between B. K. Williams, the incumbent chairman, and Gerald Snyder, State committeeman.

Democrats who are seeking the party chairmanship are John Brislin and John Schimmel.

Governors Fear New Race Troubles

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Governors of Virginia and Arkansas, on the sidelines of the National Governors Conference, pointed yesterday to new possibilities of difficulty over integration when public schools open in September.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia, in the wake of a reverse for his state in a school segregation case, said state laws "will be applied in an honest effort to save public education" from chaos.

Southerners
Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas said he might call out the Arkansas National Guard again when Little Rock schools open this fall — if that is necessary to prevent violence.

The pair of southerners spoke out as the governors formally opened their golden anniversary conference and quickly collided over Eisenhower administration proposals to hand over a pair of federal programs to the states.

Men on opposite sides acclaimed the idea as a step toward restoring government to control of the people or assailed it with calls for more federal aid and criticism that it represents an about face by Eisenhower.

Good Morning!

"I hear your insomnia is worse."

"Oh, goodness, yes. Now I can't even sleep when it's time to get up."

State Issues Order On Wage Rates

HARRISBURG (AP)—An order which will raise the minimum wage for men and minors in retail trade to $1 an hour by Jan. 1, 1960 was issued yesterday by William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry.

The order setting up a schedule for the new rates was recommended by a 6-3 vote of a wage board which studied the situation and held public hearings throughout the state last year.

Large Number
The wage minimum applies to 250,000 women and minors. The department reported that some 95,000 of them will begin receiving higher pay when the order takes effect July 1.

For the purpose of putting the new minimums into effect, the state was divided into three population classes or zones. The $1 minimum will go into effect July 1 in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh but a schedule of progressive increase was ordered for the rest of the state.

Cities with a population from 10,000 to 500,000 begin a minimum of 85 cents an hour July 1 with increases to 90 cents an hour Jan. 1, 1959 and $1 July 1, 1959 and thereafter.

In issuing the order Batt pointed out that the cost of living is $2,800 per year for a woman living alone and $2,500 for a woman living as part of a family group. He said there was no evidence that the cost of living anywhere in Pennsylvania was less.

The annual wages of a person earning $1 an hour for a 40-hour week amounts to $2,080.

Violence By Students

PANAMA (AP)—A student demonstration for changes in school affairs blazed up into riots yesterday.

A youth was killed and 43 persons injured in clashes between demonstrators and National Guardsmen. The Guardsmen, a target of clubs and stones, finally broke up the mobs with shots fired in the air and tear gas.

Store windows were smashed, automobiles were overturned, fire alarm boxes were broken, a print shop owned by President Ernesto de la Guardia was damaged and a car owned by Education Minister Victor Julio, whom the students want ousted, was wrecked.

Call For Voting

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania commanders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion yesterday called on their members to turn out and vote today.

Cardinal Stritch Receives Last Rites Following Stroke

ROME (AP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch was felled by a stroke yesterday and he received last rites of the Roman Catholic Church last night for the second time in three weeks.

A blood clot in the brain impeded the speech and partly paralyzed the right side of the 70-year-old American prelate.

His right arm was amputated April 28 to check the threat of gangrene arising from another blood clot.

The Cardinal received extreme unction also before that operation. There was a question in Roman Catholic circles as to whether the last rites should be given again after Cardinal Stritch suffered the stroke early yesterday.

Explanation
A priest explained the sacrament cannot be received twice for the same illness. He said it was decided to administer the rites because the Cardinal had been recovering from his first illness, but now "for the second time is in danger of death."

Doctors expect his condition to reach a crisis today.

Cardinal Stritch was able to drink fruit juice and water last night.

Bombs Cause Casualties In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Bombs wrecked three outdoor markets and left heavy casualties yesterday reviving a 10-day-old general strike that had begun to wane.

Opposition leader Saeb Alam declared the strike will continue until pro-Western President Camille Chamoun resigns.

A large number of casualties was reported when bombs exploded in two crowded vegetable markets opened by dealers in defiance of the strike. Security forces quickly moved into the area and arrested 150. Another bomb rocked a clothing bazaar behind the municipal building.

Gangs in automobiles patrolled the streets, firing shots above shops that opened. Security forces kept mobs from forming but were unable to cope with the hit-and-run tactics of small bands.

The terrorism had the desired effect on most people. Bazaars emptied immediately and shops closed. In most of the city the strike was more effective than at any time in the last three days. The public was beginning to feel the pinch.

Heavy Fighting

Tripoli, where heavy fighting had been under way for several days, was reported quiet. At least 60 persons were killed in riots there over the weekend.

Security forces and about 2,000 tough mountaineers took the offensive against an opposition band of Druse tribesmen in the Chouf Mountain area. They struck with mortars and howitzers.

The rioting against Chamoun's leadership began 10 days ago in Tripoli.

Many of Lebanon's Moslems want the little Mediterranean country to align itself with President Nasser's United Arab Republic. They fear that Chamoun, a Christian, will have the constitution amended so he can be elected in September to another six-year term. Chamoun has charged the U. A. R. incited the revolt and assisted anti-government rioters.

Clark Urges Funds For Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) yesterday urged the Senate Appropriations Committee to provide an additional 7½ million dollars for flood control projects in Pennsylvania.

This would be in addition to the more than 24 million dollars recommended by the administration for Keystone State projects during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Chief Boost
The chief boost would be five million dollars added to the one million dollars requested by President Eisenhower for construction of the proposed 101-million-dollar flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa.

Army Engineers have indicated, Clark told the public works subcommittee, that they could economically use six million dollars on that project in the coming year.

By accelerating construction of a number of other dams—such as Bear Creek, Dyberry and Prompton—along with advancing funds for planning several others, Clark said, a total of 7½ million dollars additional could be used in fiscal 1959.

OPPOSERS IN FRENCH CRISIS — French Premier Pierre Pflimlin (bottom, left) leaves the National Assembly in Paris where he asked for a state of emergency amid threats of civil war. At right is Gen. Jacques Massu, member of the ruling Committee of Public Safety in Algeria and one of those urging Gen. Charles de Gaulle to assume power in France. Teenagers (top) broke through a cordon of paratroopers in Algiers during a demonstration in support of the committee.

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared yesterday he is again at the disposal of France to bring order out of chaos. He renounced any role of dictator but said he would require extraordinary powers if he took the helm of government.

The towering gaunt World War II hero spoke out at a crowded Paris news conference. Then he returned to his village home to await his country's decision.

His statement brought a slight easing of tension in France. Some thought it appeared De Gaulle might come to power through constitutional means in the crisis arising from the Algerian rebellion.

Allied officials in London suggested he had lowered his price to boost his prospects for assuming leadership.

Standing ramrod straight and speaking in a clear, firm voice, De Gaulle said he is ready to serve "if the people wish, as in the preceding great national crisis, at the head of the government of the French republic."

No Ties
"I am a man alone," De Gaulle asserted, "because I am tied to no party nor to any organization. I am a man who belongs to no one and who belongs to everyone."

Shrugging aside a question on public liberties, the general asked: "Have I ever attacked fundamental public liberties? No, I restored them when they had disappeared. How would you have me, at 67, start a career as dictator?"

De Gaulle said France is a weakened country struggling in a world of great difficulties and dangers.

He declared Algeria must be kept from separating from France—"something which Algeria does not want, nor France either."

De Gaulle was asked a general question on what he would do in Algeria—in the nationalist rebellion situation now complicated by the French military—colonialist rebellion against Premier Pierre Pflimlin's Paris government.

"I envisage the case where the French people might ask me to act as an arbitrator," he replied.

Yesterday's Deaths

John F. O'Neil, 71, of 336 Glenn Road, West Palm Beach, Fla., died at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Joseph B. Bennett, 80, of Biesel Ave., Nazareth, died at 12:30 p.m. yesterday at his home.

Paul F. Holloway, 80, of 311 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, died at the General Hospital of Monroe County yesterday at 6:20 a.m.

Franklin Charles Kresge, 68, of Saylorburg, died at 6:10 p.m. in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Charles Roth, 79, of Snyder'sville, died at the General Hospital of Monroe County yesterday morning.

Jack Benny, on whose radio and TV shows the Colmans often appeared, expressed Hollywood's shock: "I am deeply saddened at the news of Ronald Colman's death. He was a great actor, a great gentleman and a great friend."

Long A Star
Colman remained a star for 35 years, probably a record in the movie business. He drew star billing from the moment he appeared with Lillian Gish in "The White Sister" in 1923 until he made his final film, "The Story of Mankind," last year.

Handsome, polished, intelligent, an inner glow of optimism and good will—these were the qualities that contributed to his durability. His clipped, nasal articulate voice helped him bridge the gap from silent films to sound and became his trade mark. (Please Turn to Page Three)

Law Allows 10 Days For Vacating

EVICTON notices are being served on property owners and tenants whose houses are located within the right-of-way of the first phase of the Stroudsburg Thruway project.

Theodore Henderson, assistant district engineer for the State Highways Department, said last night the law allows occupants 10 days in which to vacate their premises.

If the houses are not vacated within the prescribed time, Henderson said the department's attorney will petition the county court for a show-cause order and the property owners and/or tenants will be given an opportunity to explain their failure to leave the buildings.

Such a hearing, he explained, usually results in an additional 10-day period being granted by the court.

Henderson said, however, he did not anticipate any delay in getting the project under way because of refusal of occupants to leave their properties. In fact, he said, several people already have notified the department that they have made arrangements to move elsewhere.

Contract for the first phase construction is about to be let to James D. Morrissey Inc., Philadelphia, lowest of 12 bidders. The contract price is $5,164,308.93.

Water Gap

The 5.14-mile project extends from Delaware Water Gap to a point west of Minisink Hills and thence westerly to the East Stroudsburg-Stroudsburg line. Bids will be asked in the fall for an additional two miles to extend the Thruway to a point north of Stroudsburg.

The first phase provides for a reinforced concrete pavement 24 feet wide on each side of a concrete or earth divider variable in width; construction of eight bridges, also ramps, service roads, intersecting and marginal roads and extension of one structure. The work will be financed on the basis of the federal government paying 90 percent of the costs and the state 10 percent.

Henderson said he could not say definitely how many houses must be razed to make way for the Thruway. Several homes in the Prospect St. section are to be demolished as well as several others in the vicinity of the Metropolitan-Edison Co. installation near East Stroudsburg. There are also a number situated between East Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap which must be razed, he said.

The highway official said advance settlements are permitted to allow property owners to clear any outstanding mortgages and buy new homes with a minimum of inconvenience. The state, he explained, can pay up to 75 percent of the estimated value of the home—based on the figure set by a local appraiser hired by the state.

Technically
Henderson said the affected properties technically were taken over by the state on Feb. 18, 1958, when Gov. George M. Leader signed condemnation papers for the Thruway route.

Highways Department workers later began notifying property owners that their homes were situated in the path of the proposed Thruway and advised them of further steps leading to eviction.

The first actual eviction notices were served last Friday, Henderson said, and more were issued yesterday. Only those properties where houses are affected are being notified to vacate, he added.

The Thruway will link with the Keystone Shortway and the Penn-Can Expressway north of Stroudsburg and the new super-freeway which New Jersey plans to build between the George Washington Bridge and Delaware Water Gap. It is being built to relieve the traffic congestion on Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg streets.

NAACP Raps Clayton Powell

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday denounced Negro Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., for extreme racialism.

He also was accused by Julian E. Jack, Negro borough president of Manhattan, of preaching hate and stirring an ugly mood in Harlem.

Ronald Colman

Ron Colman Dies Of Lung Infection

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Ronald Colman, 67, whose gentlemanly manner set the standard for class on the screen, died yesterday of a lung infection.

His wife and co-star, Benita Hume, was at his bedside when he died at 5 a.m. at St. Francis Hospital. He had gone there Sunday morning, suffering a virus lung infection. His health had been delicate since a lung operation a year ago.

Few in Hollywood knew of his illness. He had retired from film-town glamor to lead the gentle life of an English squire at his ranch near Santa Barbara.

Jack Benny, on whose radio and TV shows the Colmans often appeared, expressed Hollywood's shock: "I am deeply saddened at the news of Ronald Colman's death. He was a great actor, a great gentleman and a great friend."

Long A Star
Colman remained a star for 35 years, probably a record in the movie business. He drew star billing from the moment he appeared with Lillian Gish in "The White Sister" in 1923 until he made his final film, "The Story of Mankind," last year.

Handsome, polished, intelligent, an inner glow of optimism and good will—these were the qualities that contributed to his durability. His clipped, nasal articulate voice helped him bridge the gap from silent films to sound and became his trade mark. (Please Turn to Page Three)

John O'Neil, 71, Succumbs To Illness

JOHN F. O'Neil, 71, of 336 Glenn Road, West Palm Beach, Fla., formerly of 800 Main St., Stroudsburg, died at 3 a.m. yesterday in Monroe County General Hospital after an illness of two years.

He had been hospitalized in West Palm Beach two months before being removed here by special plane last Wednesday.

Born in New York City, Mr. O'Neil was a son of the late Matthew and Catherine Kehoe O'Neil. He was employed for many years as a buyer and superintendent for Child's Co., restaurant chain.

Retiring from that firm about 1943, he took over operation of the Tally-Ho Restaurant on Lexington Ave., New York, for a period of nearly three years.

Church Member

He and his wife, the former Lucile Shull, then came to Stroudsburg to reside, remaining here until they moved to Florida five years ago. He was a member of St. Juliana Roman Catholic Church, West Palm Beach.

Surviving in addition to his wife are a son, John A. O'Neil, of Cornwall, Conn.; one daughter, Mrs. James Pritchard, of Milford, Pa., and six grandchildren. He also leaves a number of nieces and nephews, one of whom is Christie Shull, of Delaware Water Gap.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the William H. Clark Funeral Home. Rev. Harold G. Durkin will officiate and burial will be in Stroudsburg Cemetery. Friends may call tonight after 7 at the funeral home, where rosary services will take place at 9 p.m.

Machine Ready To Change Bills

NEW YORK (AP)—Necessity may be the mother of invention but surely it must have been inflation alone that foiled the latest wonder of scientific gadgetry.

It's a vending machine that takes paper money. "A major breakthrough in automatic vending," says its inventor, William A. Patzer. "In the next three to five years automatic vending will be bigger than the automobile business."

Patzer, head of a Chicago firm that makes vending gadgets, came to New York the other day to demonstrate his bill changing machine.

Patent Pending

How does the machine work? Patzer won't say. The patent is pending, but the machine is expected to be in production in September. Then the secret will be out.

"I can say, though, that the unit has an electronic memory-brain," says the inventor. "I can adjust the memory-brain to recognize a dollar bill any way it is put in. In fact, I can adjust it to accept any bill, American or foreign."

Although all the machines do now is make change for paper money, Patzer foresees the day when supermarkets will be nothing more than huge banks of vending machines. Feed a dollar bill into the slot and you get a can of peaches, plus the right change—what there is of it.

"I think we'll stop with machines of five and 10 dollar denominations," he says. "When you go higher, you invite trouble. Then you would have to say the machine is 100 per cent foolproof. No machine is that. We say this one is 'virtually' foolproof."

The government, says the inventor, has tested the bill changing machine with the best counterfeit money its agents could confiscate. The memory-brain sent it right out of the slot.

The German-born Patzer invented a slug rejector in 1934 based on the principle that magnetism has a different effect on different metals. It's still in use.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Lutheran Ministerium Votes To Eliminate Seven Conferences

Change Made By Vote Of 426-115

BUCK HILL FALLS — The Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, at its 211th annual convention here, yesterday voted to eliminate the seven conferences of the synod.

The reorganization will result in the establishment of approximately 18 smaller districts of approximately 30 congregations each.

The vote on the proposal was 426 to 115. The opposition was led by Rev. Albert Shumaker of Philadelphia who pointed to expected difficulties, especially in metropolitan areas.

Backers of the new setup claimed it will provide closer contact between the individual congregation and the synod organization.

Lengthy discussion was given to the matter of increasing the salaries of executive officers, with the matter being referred to the executive committee.

Revisions Still to be considered are other proposed constitutional revisions. Debate is expected concerning a proposed federated fund and appeal for synodical institutions such as orphan's homes and home for the aged.

The convention yesterday also made constitutional provision to call an assistant to the president, if one is desired or needed. Balloting continued last night for election of a president, Dr. C. M. Cooper's first six-year term expires this year.

Today, the convention will elect members to the various boards and to the United Lutheran Church convention at Dayton, Ohio, in October.

Also on today's agenda is election of a secretary to replace Rev. Dr. Claude Shick, an East Stroudsburg native, and an address by Dr. Ralph Tabor of Baltimore, Md., representing the United Lutheran Church.

A special committee to study appointment methods will also report today.

Water Follies To Highlight Convention

ONE OF the outstanding features of the world-famous Water Follies of 1958, coming here for the first time during the Four-County Firemen's Convention on June 17, 18 and 19, is its unique form of entertainment.

Presented in the world's largest portable pools and stage, 175 feet in total length and holding 80,000 gallons of water, Water Follies comes to this city with a reputation of being a very exciting and fast-moving aquatic that features world-champion divers and swimmers, top-calibre stage acts, singing and dancing stars, both a stage and water ballet group of girls, with diving and water comedians galore.

Aquatic Stars

Among the aquatic stars in the Water Follies are Roger Nadeau, world's greatest diving comedian; Bob Maxwell, acrobatic diving champion from Miami Beach, Florida; Norma Dean, female diving star from New York City; Emilie Hottel, Canadian champion stuntman from the high springboard; Mary Huber, beautiful Hollywood movie starlet, who is the new world's synchronized swimming champion, and many others.

The stage portion of the Water Follies is composed of several beautifully costumed production numbers, an outstanding singing star who sings in several languages, a musical impressionist with a very unusual routine, a line of dancing girls, and many other acts.

House Approves Space Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Space Committee unanimously approved last night a bill to set up a strong civilian agency to direct America's non-military space ventures.

The committee, headed by House Democratic Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts, said: "The task of a space agency, and the major task of the nation behind it, is to initiate and follow the boldest and most sustained large scale effort in the history of man's exploration."

Good School Record

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce yesterday said the state has achieved one of the best records in the nation in constructing schools to eliminate overcrowding facilities.

Rivals Agree On Education

MAJOR GUBERNATORIAL party candidates are in basic agreement on some education matters in Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers has compiled a sheet giving statements by Roy Furman, David Lawrence, Arthur McGonigle and Harold Stassen.

Here are brief excerpts from their comments on:

The need for classrooms:

Furman—"As our school population increases we will need more classrooms and more teachers."

Lawrence—"The public school building program should be extended to make necessary school building projects eligible for State financial assistance."

John R. Brown Jr., campaign director for McGonigle — "Our gubernatorial candidate's goal is to have every pupil in Pennsylvania to have a full-day seat in an up-to-date classroom equipped with all the essentials of a sound, contemporary education."

Stassen — "We would save money by holding down large new gymnasiums and auditoriums by strict accounting of public funds and would concentrate on necessary teaching classrooms and laboratories without frills."

On teachers' salaries:

Furman — "We must continue to provide salary schedules that will attract our best young people as teachers."

Lawrence — "It is important that we again review the salary schedule for school teachers to make certain we attract and hold an adequate number of highly qualified teachers. All possible steps should be taken to enhance the prestige of the teaching profession so it is looked upon with the honor befitting this important calling."

McGonigle — "... continuation for adequate subsidies for teachers' salaries."

Stassen — "Teachers' compensation should be raised with a new emphasis on merit quality for promotion."

Saylorsburg Area Man Fined $75

CARL R. SIMPSON, a 51-year-old Saylorsburg RD 1 resident, was recently fined a total of $75—plus $18 in costs—for two State Game Commission violations, Game Protector John Doebing reported.

According to Doebing, Simpson was confronted with the two charges last Wednesday by Game Protector Deputy George Burkhardt. The violations were said to have taken place in Ross Township.

Hearing

In a hearing before Saylorsburg Justice of the Peace George Kitchen, Simpson was charged with using a motor vehicle to hunt for game and carrying a loaded firearm in a moving motor vehicle.

He was found guilty on the former charge and fined $50, plus $9 costs. After pleading guilty to the latter charge, he was fined $25, plus $9 costs.

Game Protector Doebing said two loaded firearms—a high-powered rifle and a .22 calibre rifle—were found inside the vehicle.

Making Highways Safe

There is considerable merit in the suggestion of an Allegheny County jurist that serious traffic crimes be prosecuted under the criminal code instead of the motor vehicle code.

The idea as put forth by Judge Loran L. Lewis should be considered at the next session of the General Assembly. It was pointed out that our present motor vehicle code still reflects the days when autos were less numerous and accidents less serious.

The usual penalty prescribed for various offenses is a fine. And although fines have been increased in the past decade, the penalty still is trivial for many offenses.

For instance, a couple of irresponsibles in hot rods can stage a drag race on a public highway, endangering the life and limb of every pedestrian and motorist in sight. The penalty is a mere fine of $10 to $25.

For an offense like that, revocation of the driver's license should be mandatory, and a stiff penalty, perhaps including a jail term, added as a deterrent to others.

As law enforcement now stands, only the serious cases get the kind of consideration the judge asks—the cases in which someone is killed or seriously injured.

We should do better than that; we should apply the penalties of the law before someone gets killed, with the idea of preventing highway slaughter.

The motor vehicle code is ripe for revision, in the light of what is needed to make the highways safe in these days of traffic congestion. That can be a job for the next Legislature, most of whose members are to be elected this year.

Philadelphia Versus The State

An issue receiving top billing during this political year happens to be one on which major state candidates agree. The six candidates for governor all say that the construction of the Keystone Shortway, an expressway highway across the northern tier of the state, should begin promptly.

But strong opposition to the road comes from Philadelphia. The grounds on which it opposes the road makes surprising reading.

Led by their vocal mayor, Richardson Dilworth, our neighbors from the "City of Brotherly Love" argue that the new road if built as proposed by 1965 would divert Chicago and Cleveland traffic into New York rather than Philadelphia. They add, western traffic would choose the toll-free Shortway route over the Pennsylvania Turnpike toll road, thus adding to the economic impact.

We are surprised that Philadelphians view the new highway in such a provincial light. The state's northern counties need every break they can get. A development of this area will benefit everyone in Pennsylvania, including Philadelphia.

What truck business may possibly be diverted to New York should be welcomed rather than opposed. The toll artery leading into Philadelphia is already too busy. In 10 years the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be as jammed as the Merritt Parkway.

The threat to stall this $300,000,000 free highway, 90 per cent of which would be paid by U. S. funds, is a fight which the rest of the state should not take lightly. If Governor Leader, who at last report still advocates the project, wants to show some political courage he can't afford to bow once again to the old story — Philadelphia gets what it wants—Bethlehem Globe-Times

The Pennsylvania Story

Voters Have Their Say

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's five million-plus eligible voters head for the polls today to participate in a statewide primary election blessed with a record breaking number of registered voters for a statewide election — and one of the most wide open primaries of contemporary times.

Figures compiled by the State Elections Bureau show that a whopping 5,237,211 residents of the Keystone State are eligible to enter the voting booths today — including 2,451,414 Democrats and 2,718,179 Republicans.

Significantly perhaps, never in the history of the state has there been such a registration surge for a statewide election as has taken place in anticipation of today's primary run-off. In fact the total registration figure has been exceeded only once before in any type of election — and that was the presidential race of 1952 when 5,341,792 Pennsylvanians placed their names on the eligible list.

On the candidate front — for the four statewide offices of U. S. Senator, Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, an aggregation of 23 names will be found on the ballots.

Five have been scheduled for Pennsylvania's U. S. senatorial post (two Democrats and three Republicans); seven for party gubernatorial nods (three Democrats and four Republicans); six for lieutenant-governor (three Democrats and three Republicans), and five for secretary of internal affairs (three Democrats and two Republicans).

Today marks the climax of several stand-out developments of the 1958 edition of Pennsylvania's statewide primary. On the Republican side, the decision of controversial Harold E. Stassen, many time governor of Minnesota and erstwhile presidential adviser, to enter the Pennsylvania gubernatorial free-for-all unquestionably has been the number one development.

The Stassen move was strictly an organization-bucking affair from the beginning, much to the original pooh-poohing of old line GOP old pols. His dogged determination and gradual building up of support throughout the state has caught many a GOP stalwart around Capitol Hill flat-footed.

For Democrats, the scene has been equally if not more hectic than the Republican scramble.

The complete by-passing of Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman by Democratic organization slatemakers in their gubernatorial candidate quest in favor of Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, left Furmanities who originally had expected endorsement, in a boiling rage.

Since that time Furman's campaign has been a bitter, angry fist-shaking affair directed at Furman-opposed Governor Leader and slatemakers who bowed to his wishes.

The Democratic gubernatorial show was also a sporting affair in the manner in which Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, viewed by many originally as the top contender, was booted from the hierarchy when he was literally "booby-trapped" into making a statement on the silky and controversial aid to Red China question.

It drew the pious and wrathful denunciation from top Pennsylvania Democratic leaders, who had their condemning statements geared for release with amazing speed immediately following the Dilworth utterance.

Through all of this Pennsylvania's voters today will trot to the polls to have their say on the more than score of candidates whose names on the ballot will be staring them in the face. Up to now the old pols of both parties have held the gun. Pennsylvania's voters today will point the gun and pull the trigger.

The Sack Look

George Sokolsky Says ...

Significance Of Nixon

To be spat upon for his country, to have rocks hurled at him, to see his wife imperiled by a mob and to know that a missile might maim or even kill him, is the experience of few men. Vice President Nixon, as everybody now knows, comported himself with dignity which is not difficult but also with humility which is the hardest task of all.

He came away without anger but surely with more understanding. When he said that we cannot take our friends for granted, he said what few politicians recognize, namely, that gratitude can be a profound virtue and should last longer than the first slight. In politics the phrase is, "What have you done for me lately?"

Dean Acheson, in his extraordinary understanding little book, "Power and Diplomacy," made the point:

"... With clichés about our three thousand miles of undefended frontier with Canada and the good neighbor policy toward Latin America, we pass on to worry about Algerian independence and the Imam of Oman. Yet all is not going well in our hemisphere."

This is so true, but it was also true when he was Secretary of State and before him. For when we gave up the Monroe Doctrine and adopted the "Good Neighbor Policy," we relinquished substance for shadow, assurance for promise, protection for risk, with the result that Latin America has been disturbed, as though hit by a cyclone, since the end of World War II.

Free Hand Since 1930

And in stimulating trouble, the Communists have had a free hand since the 1920's when Lombardo Toledano organized for the conquest of Latin America, for the Kremlin and set up his headquarters in Mexico City, which is today the true powerhouse for Communist activity in the United States.

Very little has been done by this country to meet this situation, first, because it was not recognized as a serious American problem until recently; secondly, because of our Europe First Policy; thirdly, because we took Latin America for granted, and finally, because we failed to realize that a storehouse of raw materials requires a market.

Since that time Furman's campaign has been a bitter, angry fist-shaking affair directed at Furman-opposed Governor Leader and slatemakers who bowed to his wishes.

The Democratic gubernatorial show was also a sporting affair in the manner in which Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, viewed by many originally as the top contender, was booted from the hierarchy when he was literally "booby-trapped" into making a statement on the silky and controversial aid to Red China question.

Robert S. Allen Reports ...

Washington — Two Rpd Army marshals hold the answer to whether heads will roll and blood will flow in the latest ferocious power struggle for power among Russia's Communist rulers.

These two fateful ax-wielders are Marshal Ivan Stepanovich Konev and Marshal Vasil Sokolovsky, who are little known outside the Iron Curtain but whose decisive sway in the inner circles of the Soviet now approximates that of Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself.

If there is another gory purge, it will be on the say-so of these two military czars. It was Konev who headed the court-martial that condemned Secret Police Chief Lavrenti Beria to death, in the fierce Kremlin feud following Stalin's demise. And last year it was Konev and Sokolovsky who "got" Marshal Georgi Zhukov, their superior and minister of defense.

This surprise hatching was not Khrushchev's doing, as has been widely reported. He went along with it only after some hesitation and because, in effect, he had no alternative.

Red Marshals in Control

Khrushchev decided that Sokolovsky and Konev were the real bosses of the Red Army and not Zhukov. So he agreed to ditch the marshal who helped him ditch Malenkov.

Similarly it was Konev and Sokolovsky, who selected Marshal Rodion Malinovsky as Zhukov's successor as defense minister. Malinovsky has the title and makes the speeches, when occasion requires, but the reins of this key ministry are firmly in their hands.

Intelligence and diplomatic authorities emphasize there is no evidence of "any active conflict" between Khrushchev and the Sokolovsky-Konev combination. They are working together for their own ends.

The two marshals are notoriously "aggressive" in viewpoint; far more so than Zhukov. They are known to favor a "forceful" policy in the strife-torn Middle East. They had a lot to do with the arming of Egypt and Syria, and are largely in charge of Nasser's junketing in Russia.

Konev and Sokolovsky also are playing a leading role in the new tough attitude toward Yugoslavia, Marshal Tito is privately accusing the two Red Army Marshals of engineering this Stalin-type crackdown.

Taking Over — As between Sokolovsky and Konev, the latter is better known outside the Iron Curtain and more popular inside Russia. But of the two, Sokolovsky is the craftier machinator and wields greater power with the military.

Both wear several hats. Sokolovsky, in addition to being deputy defense minister, is also chief of the General Staff. That gives him immense influence in the Army, Navy and Airforce. Konev is also a deputy defense minister, as well as commander of all Russian ground forces, and those of the Warsaw Alliance, the Iron Curtain equivalent of NATO.

Strikingly indicative of the far-reaching influence the military have achieved in the last few years in the Soviet system and affairs are the following:

69 military men are now members of the Supreme Soviet, and hundreds of others hold offices in local governments.

Generals and admirals have taken over key places in atomic energy, missiles and space activities, heavy industry, transportation and communications.

The military services have attained "practical autonomy" from the Communist party, which until recently dominated them.

The armed forces are becoming largely self-contained, with their own production and supply systems. They decide what they want and when they want it, and that's it. No Budget Bureau, Congress or anything else gainsays them.

What this profoundly significant development means is grimly detailed in an intelligence report to the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee. It warns bluntly: "The Soviet Army presents the most serious threat to the free world. With its present strength in being, and its mobilization potential of trained units, it is the only major force in the world which today has the three great perils to peace."

These fateful capabilities are listed as follows: (1) To initiate a major land war to be fought without recourse to mass destruction weapons. (2) Initiate an all-out nuclear war. (3) Supply manpower as volunteers and to provide material support for operations in areas roughly contiguous to the Soviet empire which offer fertile fields for Communist exploitation.

This backstage report cites in detail the tremendous improvement the Soviet Army has undergone since World War II, particularly in mobility, fire power, and nuclear weapons.

"An immensely significant recent change," states the report, "is the importance now being given in the Russian Army to the element of surprise. Surprise was formerly considered to be only a transitory factor. Now the Soviet is giving it special importance."

"Also, Soviet military authorities categorically reject the concept of a conflict in which low yield atomic weapons can be employed without either combatant resorting to the most powerful weapons in his arsenal. ... And the Soviet-ground forces still number at least two and a half million men. Despite the various pronouncements made in the last three years that overall strength was being reduced, the Soviet government has actually failed to do that. There has been no real diminution of Soviet military strength."

Other comments Mrs. Fetzter also:

Urged local DAR members to write to their Congressmen and express their views on legislative matters and national affairs.

Long In DAR

Said that "Communists have infiltrated the DAR" on the national level. Mrs. Fetzter said that when DAR resolutions on governmental matters were prepared they were leaked to news columnist Drew Pearson and appeared in his column on Monday. They were presented to Congress until Wednesday, she said, and this was an example of Red infiltration.

Recommended continued support of the McCarran-Walter bill and its immigration policies. She warned that some Hungarian refugees have not worked out so well in this country but others have become fine citizens "so we should not judge that situation too quickly."

Party Set To Rhythm Of Hawaii

The ancient rhythms of stones and bamboos of old Hawaiian dances were mingled with a modern plea in dance, for recognition of the Islands as the 49th state at the luau, given by the Wahines of the Poconos yesterday afternoon.

A luau is a party, and this party marked the climax of the season for the wahines (women) of the club at the home of their director, Mrs. John Shinn, near Vacation Valley.

Guests were met with leis and flowers for their hair, and ushered into a Hawaiian setting of orchids and palm trees, colored fish nets and fresh flowers. Their hostesses wore every variety of costume native to The Islands from tea gowns to formals, from kimonos to sarongs.

The program of dances included the popular, sentimental, ancient and comic numbers.

For the comedy numbers, the dancers wore mums and coconut hats trimmed lavishly with flowers. In dance they illustrated a modern saga of a ride in a car, and the story of a working horse.

Popular numbers included "Hukilau" the story of a fish fry; "To You Sweetheart Aloha"; "Song of Old Hawaii"; "Lovely Hula Hands"; "Tropic Trade Winds" and "Grass Shack" and "Beyond the Reef."

In the ancient numbers, there was "Hella," the story of surfing, using stones as accompaniment; and "Kawaii," using bamboo, and the climax of the program, "Hawaiian War Dance" using gourds.

A buffet luncheon followed the program with Mrs. Elwood Hintze as chairman of the luncheon committee. Mrs. James Kitson was chairman of decorating.

Taking part in the program were: Mrs. Lewis Hunsicker, Mrs. Hintze, Mrs. T. L. Metzger, Mrs. Horace Westbrook, Mrs. Francis Shinn, Mrs. B. I. Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's a small-world department:

A diner somewhere between Berwick and Bloomsburg is the last place in the world I'd expect to meet Lt. Bob Fabel, whose home is in Stroudsburg but who is serving with the Navy in Virginia.

But there he was and there was his pretty wife, and the explanation was really very simple. They had driven up to attend the wedding of his former best man. But I still have my mouth open in surprise.

A very pleasant surprise it was and offered very congenial companionship for a hurried meal. Another pleasant coincidence was the presence of Leo Ulerick at the Hawaiian party yesterday.

I had just come back from seeing her newspaper husband proudly shepherding his nine prize winners, including the Newswoman of the Year, back to the Clearfield Progress.

But I betcha not one of them can do the hula. But I also bet they'd probably learn if they lived around here. A lot of the guests were doing experimental knee-bending and one-two-three—turning afterward.

I continue to be surprised at how small is the world and how short is the year. It seems impossible that it's time for another election day. I'll make time to vote, I promise you, and only hope I also have time to get the flowers out of my hair and the Hawaiian rhythms out of my head before it's time to take down statistics from Middle Stroud and Eastern Coolbaugh.

Remodelers Urged To Consider Air Conditioning In Plans

Leslie Hay Features Westinghouse Models

SOMETIMES inclement weather has a way of getting us down even though we try hard not to let it happen. . . . needless to say it hits Mrs. Homemaker doubly hard when it occurs on washday. . . . Not so if she has the new 1958 Westinghouse Laundry Twins. She can choose from an array of models; from the low priced Royal Twins, to the Imperial, to the Custom Imperial. The dryers are equipped with an improved Direct Flow Air System, using more air and lower heat to dry clothes even faster than older models. . . . and safer too, for all kind of fabrics. . . . Westinghouse Automatic Washers employ a new revolving agitator to give cleaner washes and better rinsing action. In old style center post agitators, clothes in the center take a beating while clothes at the outside edges of the tub were just barely washed. Westinghouse Laundromat's principle lifts and plunges the clothes through the water at a rate of 50 times a minute with all clothes being washed equally and constantly.

Huffman Installations Features Carrier Products

AIR CONDITIONING has become a "Number One" factor to consider in home remodeling along with electric wiring and plumbing according to Lawton Huffman, local Carrier Corp. dealer at Craigs Meadows, who points out that it may have a profound influence on most other portions of a remodeling program.

One of the important considerations in home improvement is to avoid building obsolescence into the structure, Huffman said. For example, adding a room or relocating doors or windows may mean alterations to or perhaps replacement of the heating system. And proper precautions taken to insure that heating plant, ducts and outlets are suitable for future air conditioning may cost not a penny more now but guarantee considerable savings later.

Air conditioning can set the home remodeler free to locate windows where he wants them instead of where he now needs to have them to satisfy the arbitrary requirements of cross-ventilation. It may add a third or half again as much usable living space to his home by remodeling summer dampness from his basement and thus obviating the need to construct extra space elsewhere.

It can also affect choice of colors and fabrics for interior redecoration and through its influence on location of doors and windows permit a wider variety of furniture arrangements. Air conditioning may even influence the color for the new exterior paint job or the kind of shingles selected for the roof.

Ground Floor
If you heat with an obsolete furnace then you may want to put air conditioning right on the ground floor of your remodeling plans with a year-round unit to provide both heating and cooling. However, if your budget restricts you to just heating with cooling in mind for a later date, the answer is an "air conditioning design" furnace such as that developed by Carrier. It is easily adapted to air conditioning by inserting a summer cooling coil into the top of the furnace and connecting it to a refrigerating unit in the garage or any other convenient outside location.

Redecorating becomes an easier chore with air conditioning along because its flared air permits the use of lighter colors for paint, wallpaper, and fabrics. Clean, conditioned air insures that light colors stay that way longer.

As a consideration of the greatest importance, air conditioning will help to protect the through private arrangements plan provided by Carrier Corp. including a no-down-payment through its local dealers.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of the Proposed ESSTC Women's Dormitory

Dormitory Work Begins In August

WORK ON the proposed $800,000 women's dormitory at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College is slated to begin on Aug. 15.

It is supposed to be finished by July of 1959.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of the college, said last night that the new dormitory will house 200 female students.

It will boast a new architectural design featuring an open courtyard in the center of the structure. Lounges with glass-pannelled walls will face on the courtyard, from each floor.

No Waste

The design will eliminate long corridors and waste space. It is the work of H. A. Kuljian, Philadelphia architectural firm.

Dr. Koehler said that the dormitory will also house quarters for the dean of women students and a housekeeper, a series of bungalows and a reception room.

The contract for the dormitory allows for 300 working days. Actual construction date was advanced by the State one month as a part of the intensified works program developed and planned by Gov. Leader's administration to offset unemployment.

Stroudsburg FFA Wins Rifle Match

THE STROUDSBURG Future Farmers of America last night won the annual FFA rifle tournament held at Stroud Union High School with a score of 270 out of a possible 500.

Pen Argyl was second in the two-team competition with 222, while Bangor finished third with 217.

Chestnuthill

Dave Dorshimer of Chestnuthill was individual high scorer with 94 out of 100. He was followed by Frank Manhart of Stroudsburg with 86.

Other members of the winning team were Artlett Gannon, Gary Reish and Bob Harps. William Bush was chief scorer.

Poppy Days To Be Held This Week

POPPY DAYS will be Friday and Saturday in the Stroudsburgs, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of George N. Kemp Post 346.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, chairman, said headquarters for the distribution of poppies will be at Berner's Electrical Shop, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, and the A. A. Lauffer Garage, 525 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Volunteer workers will assist Legion Auxiliary members in selling the poppies on the streets of the Stroudsburgs. Mrs. Anderson said that only a small part of the monies collected will be sent to national headquarters, but most of it will stay in the community to benefit local veterans and their families.

The poppies, Mrs. Anderson pointed out, are hand-made by disabled veterans all over the country. The work gives eager fingers something useful to do and helps pass away weary hours spent in the hospital.

She said the VA doctors find that being occupied keeps the men from worry and gives them much needed self confidence, a feeling they are still useful.

The materials from which the poppies are made are furnished free to the veterans by the Legion Auxiliary. All payments made to the vets for poppies are kept by them.

Thus, Mrs. Anderson said, the sale of these memorial poppies serves two roles—that of honoring the memory of our war dead and of helping veterans in hospitals. Proceeds are used 100 percent to aid the needy victims of wars, disabled veterans, veterans in need, their families and widows and orphans of veterans.

Appointments for registration must be made ahead of time by calling Arlington Heights School, Telephone 5265.

Children who will be entering first grade in this district and have not had kindergarten will also be seen for classification purposes.

School administrators emphasized that all children in the Union district are expected to have a year's kindergarten experience. They must be seen by the psychologist to be given proper classification.

Washington, Southern Cal "Athletic Sins" Forgiven

Both Football Clubs Eligible For Rose Bowl

By Jack Hewins
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Washington and Southern California were forgiven for their athletic sins yesterday by the Pacific Coast Conference and returned to good standing — an action which makes their football teams eligible for the Rose Bowl in 1959.

UCLA, which drew a three-year probation for similar offenses, must remain outside the pale for another season.

All three were placed on probation in 1956 for illegal payments to athletes. The two forgiven schools, however, still must receive approval of their return to grace from the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. NCAA.

After the conference acted in 1956, the NCAA also placed the pair on probation—Washington until August, USC until November, 1958. The conference will ask the NCAA to approve the action.

UCLA probation still has another year to run with both NCAA and the Pacific Coast Conference.

Irked by these penalties, Southern California and UCLA, joined by the latter's sister institution, California, announced their withdrawal from the conference as of July 1, 1959.

Coach Martin Of ESSTC Honored At Special Fete

The East Stroudsburg State Teachers College coach is retiring from coaching this year. He has been head football coach at the college since 1942.

Last night's dinner was a planned and brought off the dinner without letting their plans out to the school faculty or student body in general.

Guest speaker was Dr. George Ockershausen who told the group he had enjoyed working with Martin greatly over the years. Ockershausen praised Martin's record as a coach, pointing out that he had brought the college an undefeated team in his first year (1942).

Martin has had only one losing season. Martin coached his squad to one of three-way State Teachers College football championships.

It came this year when his team won three, lost four and tied one. Three years ago, ESSTC team tied for the conference title.

The team members bought a pen set as a farewell gift to the retiring coach. It was presented to Martin by Charlie Brayford, co-captain of the varsity team who also served as toastmaster at the dinner.

The dinner honoring Martin was held in the campus dining hall, and nearly everyone else on campus. The football players "complete surprise" to Martin

Pocono High Swarms Over Barrett With 15-0 Win

TANNERSVILLE — Pocono High's nine yesterday kept a tight grip on their second place standing in the Monroe Scholastic League by swamping Barrett 15-0 in a seven inning duel here.

The second-potential troupe recorded heavy rallies in the second and fifth innings after starting their campaign with a two-run lead in the first.

Frequent changes in the lineups as well as a multitude of stolen bases marked the tilt. Of the 14 odd stolen bases, Pocono collected 13 of the total.

The game's finale leaves Pocono with a 3-1 log in league competition.

Uncertainties Mark Slow Stock Market

NEW YORK — Foreign uncertainties yesterday helped bring about the slowest and narrowest stock market since March.

Prices were irregular but the closing statistics showed a slight trend to the downside. Most changes were narrow.

Volume dropped to 1,910,000 shares compared with 2,030,000 Friday and was the smallest since 1,810,000 shares were traded March 3. The number of issues traded was 1,116, the smallest total since March 27 when 1,092 issues showed in dealings.

While France remained in crisis the stock market seemed to be waiting. Brokers reported that although there was plenty of cash, it seemed to be loitering on the sidelines.

Little Movement

Changes of most key stocks were fractional. Here and there was an issue that moved 1 or 2 points.

Prices were generally lower, affected by the international tension. The major motor shares were mostly off. Lower-priced stocks, however, were not dominating the list of favorites as they did last week.

The day brought news of another slight increase in steel production. Over the weekend came news of a decline in the number of workers collecting unemployment insurance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $167.30 with the industrials down 50 cents, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Losers outnumbered gainers by 497 to 365. New highs for the year totaled 60 and new lows 13.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks were higher, five lower and one unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregularly lower. Volume was 790,000 shares compared with 890,000 Friday.

I AM FOR SNYDER

for Republican County Chairman

Mr. Williams knows why for I have told him, and I have also told all his close associates.

Now is the time for me to inform all Republicans and publicly give some of the reasons:—

1. Mr. Williams told me he would not again be a candidate if his judgeship candidate in the Fall 1957 campaign was successful.
2. His candidate was elected, and responsible Republicans then got Mr. Snyder as a candidate for the County Chairmanship in this primary.
3. Mr. Williams reneged and refused to consider Snyder in any way for party work.

I will vote for Snyder because:

Snyder is young, active and enthusiastic—which is what our party needs.

He can attract other young and active men and women, whose future is before them, to our side.

He can increase registration and attract tomorrow's leaders into our party.

He will accept advice from older hands, but not dictation.

He will delegate authority for prompt decisions.

He will give all Republicans a courteous hearing.

He will protect job opportunities for Republicans.

He will tie closely to our state organization for the benefit of Monroe County.
